"PREPARED BY AND FOR THE WALT DISNEY WORLD CAST"

APRIL 16, 1982

WELCOME TO THE WORLD SHOWCASE, MOROCCO

DINING IN THE KASBAH - Dining in a desert kasbah is part of the unique experience being planned for the Morocco pavilion. Morocco is among international pavilions planned for addition after Epcot Center opens October 1.

"We are very honored and excited to have reached an agreement to have a Kingdom of Morocco Pavilion in World Showcase," stated Jack Lindquist, Senior Vice President of Marketing, "and to have the opportunity of presenting to millions of Epcot Center guests a first-hand acquaintance with the beauty and variety of tourist activities, the culture and heritage, the fine and unusual merchandise, and the delightful food and unique cooking style of the Kingdom of Morocco."

The announcement that Morocco will join four other countries in Phase II of Epcot Center's World Showcase brings the total number of countries participating in the project to 14.

The participation agreement was signed in Rabat, Morocco, on the first of April after nearly five years of negotiations between WDW and the Kingdom of Morocco. The pavilion will open on October 1, 1984, the second anniversary of Epcot Center's Grand Opening.

Architecturally, the Morocco pavilion will reflect a variety of the country's regions from the coastal look of Casablanca, Agadir, and Tangier to the classic feel of Marrakech and Fez. The preliminary design concept for the pavilion has been completed by WED Enterprises and approved by officials from the Kingdom of Morocco.

To assure complete authenticity in the design of the pavilion, the Kingdom of Morocco assigned architects to work with the WED team on the preliminary plans. This same attention will be paid to the pavilion's interior, and Moroccan artisans working to WED specifications may create certain ornamental and decorative details.

Inside the pavilion, guests will view displays of cultural and artistic artifacts, shop in stores with authentic products and handicrafts, and dine in a theatre restaurant serving authentic Moroccan cuisine and featuring a live performance and film.

The location of the pavilion and other details have not yet been determined, however the EYES & EARS will bring you more information about the Morocco pavilion and the rest of Epcot Center each week.

Please note that the Payroll Office in The Center will close tomorrow, Saturday, April 17, at noon. If you have any business pending with Payroll, please visit the office before that time.

WALT'S FIRST STUDIO STAYS IN THE FAMILY

At a recent auction of Disney memorabilia in Hollywood, Calif., a group of cast members from Walt Disney Productions and members of Hollywood Heritage Inc., bought the 18-by-12-foot garage "studio" where Mickey Mouse was born and the Disney entertainment empire began.

The group's winning bid of $8,500 for the wooden shed actually saved the historic building. It was scheduled for demolition late last month. The buyers have made no plans for the building, which is stored in a construction warehouse in a suburb of Hollywood. However, the Hollywood Heritage organization devotes itself to preserving Hollywood landmarks, and the building's former owner hopes the studio will become a landmark at the county Museum of Natural History.

It was in this studio that Walt created his first pilot film, "Alice in Cartoonland." He and Roy rented the building from their uncle in the early Twenties.

Special thanks to Doug Burns, Editor of the Disney Newsreel at the Studio for his help with this story.

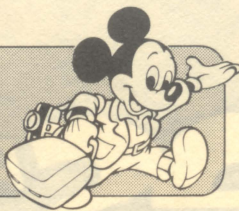

"TREASURE ISLAND" THIS WEEKEND ON WALT DISNEY

Long John Silver (Robert Newton) and young Jim Hawkins (Bobby Driscoll) are shipmates on the Hispaniola, searching for buried treasure.

"Walt Disney" features Robert Louis Stevenson's classic adventure "Treasure Island" beginning this Saturday and concluding the following week on channel 6 at 8 p.m. In the movie, the death of a pirate captain leads to a search for buried gold and mutiny on the high seas.

THANK YOU!

Next week is National Secretaries Week, a time we pay tribute to those people who keep us organized, remind us of our appointments, type our letters and memos, help make coffee, answer the phones and take messages and a million other things every day to keep the office running smoothly.

Obviously, the word secretary means many things. The job can fall anywhere between the receptionists who greet guests and take messages to the executive secretary who may need a secretary of her own. And a good secretary must possess a variety of qualities . . . diplomacy, tact, endurance, enthusiasm, efficiency, punctuality, sympathy, energy and loyalty.

The entire week is dedicated to those cast members who provide clerical support throughout the year, and for this we extend our appreciation and gratitude for jobs well done!

MICKEY'S GOLDEN EARS CLUB

CLYDE WALKER RETIRES

After over 10 years with WDW, Clyde Walker retired from the Hotel Resort Division on April 10. Clyde says he enjoyed his job here, especially all the people he's worked with, and although he's retiring, he'll always remember the many friends he has here at WDW.

Clyde and his wife plan to travel now, perhaps to his native Georgia, and throughout his travels, he'll be thinking of all his WDW friends.

Clyde wants to thank everyone here for making his job so pleasant, and we want to say "thank you" to him for over 10 years of fine service. Good luck, Clyde.

APRIL'S AUTOMOBILE MONTH AT THE EMPLOYEE SALE

For special deals on 1980 Pontiac and Buick station wagons and several trucks, don't miss the Employee Sale on April 21 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Property Control may limit items that are high in demand and low in quantity.

Don't miss the chance to buy items at more than reduced rates.

"It Takes People"

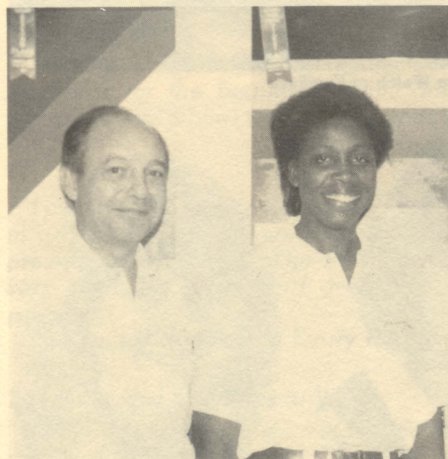

FOUR APPRENTICES RECEIVE NATIONAL HONORS

The EYES & EARS proudly announces that WDW has some of the very best painter apprentices in the country right in Facilities Central Shops, and they have the awards to prove it!

During the recent national competition of painter apprentices, four WDW cast members received top honors for their work, including the prestigious Tuckbreiter Award recognizing the most outstanding apprentice of the year. Emma Carr, a third year apprentice, received this award, a large silver trophy and a check for $1,000 for her accomplishment.

Emma also took first place in the bleached wood/mahogany category. Her fellow apprentices also receiving awards were:

- Third year student Manuel Sarachaga, who placed first in the process of finishing and third in the imitation of marble categories.
- Third year student Lois Gail Henderson, who placed second in the decorative panel/wall category.
- First year student Ricardo Oliver, Sr., who placed third in the stained wood/closed grain category.

As part of their apprenticeship program, the students attend classes two nights a week, nine months a year for three years as well as work full time in the Central Shops. "They spend 144 hours per year plus probably as many hours on their own time upgrading their skills," according to Vince Lucchese, Training Manager of Facilities.

As a requirement for their classes, the apprentices prepare miniature samples of their work, processing raw sections of wood and carefully measuring and processing the wood until finely finished, "a job that requires much patience," Ricardo added.

The apprentices may then enter their projects in a local competition with the three highest-honored projects proceeding to the Southeastern competition. The three projects judged the best regionally advance again, this time to the national competition.

Although the projects are required by the school, the apprentices are not required to enter their work in the competition nor are they directed to submit essays regarding their work. "It's totally voluntary," Emma explained.

Coincidentally, another WDW apprentice, Kathy Brady, received the Tuckbreiter Award last year.

Please join us in congratulating these cast members - Emma, Manuel, Lois Gail and Ricardo - for their fine accomplishments. Keep up the good work!

CAST ACTIVITIES

EASTER EGG HUNT

Sometimes even the best plans don't turn out the way you'd like them to. So when the skies opened up on Saturday night, the Easter Bunny made sure it didn't rain on his Easter Parade at Little Lake Bryan this past Sunday. Unable to hide any goodies due to the wet grounds, the bunny did the next best thing. He called on his friends, the WDW characters, to help distribute the candy for him. So, children visiting Little Lake Bryan were greeted with candy given out by none other than Donald, Pluto, Robin Hood, Baloo, Little John, and Winnie the Pooh. As a result and in spite of the puddles on the ground, everyone had a very happy Easter as these pictures clearly show! The Easter Bunny is already planning for a bigger (and hopefully dryer) hunt next year!

INSTRUCTIONAL PROGRAMS DEADLINE

This is the last week to sign up for Upholstery for Automobiles and Calligraphy. Both of these classes are being offered because they have received such favorable response in the past.

Calligraphy — April 19 (8 weeks) $25

Jules Propersi, New York-trained instructor, teaches the fascinating art of hand-lettering from 6-8 p.m. every Monday. The class emphasizes shape, structure, proportion and achieving legibility in writing with a broad-tipped pen. Information flyer available when signing up.

Upholstering for Automobiles — April 22 (10 weeks) $50

Taught by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scanlon, you will "learn to do" repairs for headliners, vinyl work, convertible tops, door panels, and car or truck seats. All materials and supplies must be purchased from Custom Upholstery — high quality supplies at a 20% discount. The sessions are all in Orlando from 7-9 p.m. every Thursday. You will work on your vehicle and assist others with their repairs. This is the best-priced class in town. Call Paul at 275-1850 for more information and directions. Sign up at Cast Activities — The Center or Lake Buena Vista.

Think you're saving money by using the self-service island at the gas station? Well, you're not, unless you also properly maintain your car. Check all fluid levels regularly and service your car from time to time. Regular maintenance will prevent costly repairs.

FISH IN THE DEEP BLUE SEA

The Cape Canaveral fishing trip booked up right away and if you missed it, we will sail out of there again in July. In the meantime, Saturday, May 8, join us in Clearwater aboard the 65-foot Catamaran from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Be there by 7:30 a.m. to secure your place and meet the other cast members sailing with you. The galley will serve breakfast and a full lunch featuring ham sandwiches and beer. Prices are reasonable, or bring your own cooler.

Don't miss this trip. Stop by Cast Activities and pay only $22 per person. This trip is open to cast members, family members or friends. Only 50 spots are available, so don't wait.

Cast Activities brings America's form of folk dance to Disney cast members and family. That's right, you can "promenade" right through the summer with this 15-week course, starting Tuesday, April 27. The WDW Square Dance Club, for their second time, teaches this exciting pattern-partner dancing.

Square Dancing is performed by all age groups and continues to grow in America as a wholesome form of family entertainment. Each Tuesday, you will meet in Orlando from 7-8:30 p.m., for only $2 per person per evening. All dues go to the Club treasury to sponsor dances throughout the year. Not only will you learn Square Dancing and become an automatic member of the club but you will meet many dancers in clubs throughout Central Florida. For more information, call Dave and Bev Dunn, 859-0099 or Kevin and Nola Miller at 876-2696.

Buses scored one run in the bottom of the seventh to defeat Salmonella by 12-11. An exciting 7-6 affair where Contemporary Marina (3-5) rose up to hand Fantasyland Foods their third defeat of the season knocking them two full games behind league leading Pecos Bill at 8-1.

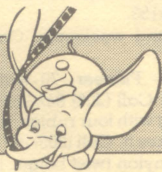

VOLLEYBALL VOLLEYS

Action in the seventh week of the season was highlighted by a match between the Samoan Spikers and Liberty Tree Tavern, both tied for second place behind Watercraft. The Tree team won over the Spikers in two games by the scores of 15-7 and 15-5.

Watercraft tangled with the Sand Sharks in another close match with Watercraft winning 15-10 and 15-12. Environmental Protection won their second match of the season by beating a stubborn Sandspur team by 15-8 and 16-14. The other match of the night was the Big Spenders over the Wed-Netters 15-4 and 15-10.

The summer league quickly approaches, so if you plan to get a team together, come on out to the Lake and watch to pick up some pointers!
